president in review, and then, back again into the black background of humanity and the white clouds of dust. Surrounded by his cabinet, his generals and his friends, President McKinley stood and reviewed the grandest military pageant ever seen in this city. There were regular soldiers, regular sailors, national guardsmen of the sea and land forces, grand army veterans, Confederate veterans and the striplings who in the future may fight as gallantly as their fathers did.

world into the dim quiet of the tomb. For about ten minutes she stayed there, and then, with her face hidden in her hands, she left the scene.

Soon after this, President McKinley went aboard the Dolphin amid the booming of guns and reviewed the warships that lay in the shadow of the tomb. The dense crowds still stayed in their seats and watched the end of the land parade. Then, when the last company had passed out of sight of the white road bed, the hundreds of thousands of spectators sought their homes. All the traffic was congested and it was hours before the tide of travel fell to its normal condition.

While the surging crowds were still seeking their homes an elaborate reception to President McKinley was in progress at the Union League club. When night fell the city assumed a gala aspect. The streets were full of bright uniforms of all nations, while sight-seers from every part wended from place to place and discoursed the wonders of the day.

Once in the quiet of the world before has such a ceremony been enacted over the reinforcement of a great man, this only other instance being when the body of Napoleon was brought back to Paris from St. Helena.

THE LAND PARADE.

Fine Appearance of Pennsylvania Troops--Ovation to Gov. Hastings.

New York, April 27.--With military pomp and perfect discipline, the land parade started from Twenty-fourth street and Madison avenue on the morning of the 27th. Major General Grenville M. Dodge, followed by a staff of celebrated soldiers, led the column, the military band from Governors Island coming next.

The veteran Merritt led the first division and the thirty West Pointers called forth salutes of cheers as they followed. New York's famous seventh was no more, heartily cheered than was Maryland's superb Fifth; while the solid ranks of Pennsylvania's sons led by their governor, led the same parades showered upon them that greeted the champions from New Jersey, Ohio and Massachusetts.

Heartily too, was the plaudits accorded the sons of Confederate veterans. But enthusiasm reached its climax when the division led by Major General O. O. Howard, marched into view. To the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic was given greatest honor.

As a relief from the constant blue came the independent companies, the gray-cadets, the insignia-covered benevolent, religious and temperance orders. In many ways the parade was the most noteworthy that has ever trodden the streets of any city on earth.

The Pennsylvania troops headed the third division, and were greeted with a round of hearty applause as they rounded the turn and began the ascent.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT RAILROAD PIER

Damage is Done to the Amount of Two Million Dollars.

THREE VESSELS ARE BURNED

Two Immense Piers and a Tug Boat Entirely Destroyed by the Flames. Crews of the Vessels Have a Narrow Escape from Cremation--Heroic Efforts of Firemen Saves a Grain Elevator.

Newport News, Va., April 27.--Fire broke out in the Chesapeake and Ohio boat entirely destroyed and a tug boat entirely destroyed and eight persons injured, some of them seriously. The British steamship Clinton, which was loading with oil, tobacco and general merchandise at pier 5, was soon ablaze. She was burned to the water line at 10 o'clock tonight. The Norwegian steamship Solvick, which was loading grain at pier 5, next caught. The crew managed to escape by climbing down the hawsers to the pier.

Meanwhile the Chesapeake and Ohio tug, Wanderer, which had caught fire, had burned to the water's edge. The German sailing ship, J. D. Bischoff, taking on staves from the north side of pier 6, also caught. The flames obtained such a headway on her that they could not be conquered and she went to the bottom at 6 o'clock this afternoon.

The crew of the vessel had a very narrow escape from being cremated. They were aroused by John Anderson, one of the crew, and rescued with the greatest difficulty, after the captain and the boatswain had been badly burned. The heavy north wind and the heroic efforts of the fire department saved the large grain elevator of the Chesapeake and Ohio company from destruction. There are vague rumors of many persons having lost their lives, but they cannot be traced to any reliable source.

PINGREE FARMING AT ANDERSON.

Ladies in an Indiana Town Plan Work That Will Benefit the Poor.

Anderson, Ind., April 27.--The Ladies' Industrial association, the charity organization of this city, today adopted the Pingree farming plan and they will begin tomorrow morning securing privileges of using vacant lots.

It is thought that about a thousand acres can be secured in the suburbs of this city. They will put all of the unemployed to work.

Potatoes and other vegetables that can be stored through the fall and winter months will be the principal product as they will be needed by the poor the coming winter.

EXCITED OVER OIL DISCOVERIES.

Finding of Petroleum Disturbs Indiana People.

Alexandria, Ind., April 27.--The excitement in oil continues. The well on the Nim Caver farm, two miles east of this city, is proving better than first expected. Two large tanks were erected, and today the output is twenty barrels per hour and as good, if not better, oil than that in the Pennsylvania field.

Leasing of land is being done rapidly, already two more tracts are being erected. Two large tanks were shipped from Findlay, Ohio.

TRIED TO SCUTTLE THE SHIP.

Two Seamen Discovered in the Act and Arrested.

New York, April 27.--Heinrich Seebach, carpenter, and Fritz Jenckmann, seaman, of the German bark Elizabeth Ahrens, arrived today as prisoners from West Indian ports.

The men are charged with attempting to set fire to their vessel, and failing in that, of another vain attempt to scuttle her by boring holes in her bottom as she lay at Martinique. Both men, as alleged, were discovered at their attempt to scuttle the vessel.

Skull Crushed with a Brick.

Lima, O., April 27.--A free-for-all fight between four colored men this evening may result in another murder. Slat Simmons and Joseph Morris slashed each other with razors and seriously cut two friends who were trying to separate them. Morris then crushed Simmons' skull in with a brick. Simmons cannot live.

Steamer Ashore.

Kinston, Ont., April 27.--The steamer Bannock Burn, from Toledo, is ashore on Four Mile Point. She has a hole in her side and the cargo, which will be damaged, is being lightened.

SUICIDE BEFORE A MIRROR.

Noted the Door of His Room and Ended His Life.

Ocean Grove, N. J., April 27.--Edward Seabarr committed suicide at his residence, on Heck avenue this morning by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. The deed was without doubt premeditated, as the door of the room in which he killed himself was nailed on the inside. His wife heard the report of the revolver and surmising what had occurred called for help.

Seabarr was found in a sitting position with a stream of blood oozing down the side of his face. He had evidently sat in front of a mirror so as to get correct aim, for the glass was colored by smoke from the weapon. The suicide was about 50 years of age, and had resided in Ocean Grove about six years, having come here from Brooklyn.

FEAR THEIR FOREWOMAN'S GHOST.

Girls in a Troy Collar Shop Terrified by an Apparition.

Troy, N. Y., April 27.--About 50 girls employed in one of the big collar shops of this city have been made hysterical with fear several times lately by what they believe to be the apparition of their forewoman, who died a few weeks ago. The girls declare that the ghost appears and moves among them or sits at the desk formerly occupied by the forewoman.

To induce the girls to remain at work the firm employs men to go into the shop each morning and remain there to guard against the ghost. The matter has seriously delayed business, and the girls say they will quit work entirely if the ghost keeps on coming.

TROLLEY TRAGEDY.

An Electric Car Jumps a Track and Plunges Through a Bridge.

Three Passengers Killed.

Portland, Ore., April 27.--An electric car on the Mount Tabor line jumped the track this morning on East Morrison and Eighth streets, and plunged through a bridge into a slough twenty-five feet below. Three bodies have been recovered. The dead are: W. W. BLANCHARD, laborer, NEWTON HANSON, 15 years old, YOUNG LADY--unknown.

There were thirty-four people in the car when the accident occurred, but it is believed only three were killed. A number were badly bruised and cut by glass in the car windows.

HYPNOTISM BY CHILDREN.

Physicians of Sioux City Ask Council to Prohibit Experiments.

Sioux City, Iowa, April 27.--Amateur hypnotic exhibitions, according to local physicians, are growing too common in Sioux City. The practice is a fad here and is indulged in at social gatherings almost every evening at various places in the city.

School children have taken it up, and boys and girls yet in knee breeches and short skirts amuse themselves by throwing each other into the hypnotic trance.

Doctors say this is most injurious to the subjects and may be expected to result in cases of serious illness or possible deaths. They want the city council to prohibit the practice except by licensed physicians.

KILLED DAUGHTER AND SELF.

Terrible Crime of a Man Whose Wife Had Left Him.

New York, April 27.--Isidore Weber shot his 13-year-old daughter Josie today, killing her, and then killed himself. Weber was a hard drinker. He came from Tennessee, and six years ago married Lena Hughes in Baltimore, Md. He used his wife ill, and she was obliged to turn him out of doors.

Flood Situation Grave.

St. Louis, April 27.--The flood situation tonight throughout the neighboring Mississippi and Missouri river territory is one of grave danger. At several points the swollen streams have overlapped their banks and burst through the levees. Already several lives have been lost and many people are imperiled by the rapidly rising waters.

Drank the Captured Whisky.

Parkersburg, W. Va., April 27.--The authorities of Richwood raided the "speakeasy" of Cornwallis and Cetro yesterday. London, April 27.--A dispatch received at one of the embassies here, from Athens, says that King George of Greece may at any moment be deposed or assassinated, and that the mob is likely to take possession of the city. The dispatch adds that the worst is feared.

A special dispatch from Athens says that the Greek minister of marine has resigned.

PORTUGUESE GUNBOATS ENCOUNTER MAY LEAD TO COMPLICATIONS.

Salonica, April 27.--The Portuguese gunboat Guadiana arrived here today. Her commander reports having met two Greek cruisers and two Greek torpedo boats about twenty miles from this port. The commander of the Greek squadron ordered the commander of the Portuguese gunboat to go on board the largest of the Greek cruisers. The Portuguese officer protested, saying he would only allow the Greeks to see his ship's papers, and has reported the outrage to Lisbon.

Several British warships and a French war vessel are expected here. Public feeling is becoming calmer here at the news of the victories of the Turks.

TURKEY TO OFFER PEACE.

Constantinople, April 27.--The success of the Turkish troops in Thessaly have caused the greatest satisfaction in military circles here. It is now believed Enghel Pasha will occupy the port of Volo and the important town of Trikala, almost due west from Larissa and about forty miles from that place, with the view of strengthening his position. The Turkish government will then call upon Greece to evacuate the island of Crete on the condition that the Ottoman troops be withdrawn from Thessaly. With the occupation of Trikala by the Turkish forces the Greeks in Epirus will find themselves between the troops under Ahmed Hifzi Pasha, and those of Edhem Pasha and in danger of being cut off from the rest of the Hellenic forces.

Athens, April 27.--A deputation of citizens from Volo to Larissa has been assured by the Turkish commanders that the people of Thessaly have nothing to fear from the invaders.

TURKISH DISCIPLINE.

Orders Against Pillage and Barbarity Are Rigidly Enforced.

Headquarters of Turkish Army in Thessaly--Larissa, April 27.--The correspondent of the Associated Press with the Turkish army here never saw such perfect discipline as when the victorious Turks occupied Larissa. The peace was not disturbed in a single quarter of the town. As an instance of the strictness of the orders against pillage, the correspondent has just seen a Turkish soldier, who took a shirt from an abandoned half-closed store, seized by a patrol and arrested.

Several cafes are already doing business. The correspondent has just lunched in one. Practically the whole Greek population fled from the town. One of the few persons who remained informed the correspondent that there was a continual exodus throughout Saturday. Only a number of volunteers remained, who, the moment the regular troops had gone, began pillaging the stores and also liberated the criminals from the jail. The released prisoners joined in the looting and the volunteers afterwards began to shoot the Mussulmans who, throughout the preceding

Washington, April 27.--The barometer has risen in New England and the lower lake regions and the Atlantic states. The temperature is lower in New England and near the Atlantic coast. Fair weather is indicated for New England and the Atlantic states. The weather will be warmer in the Atlantic states.

GEN. U. S. GRANT.

New York, April 27.--Never but once in the history of the world, and never before in the history of the United States, has such a tribute been paid to the noble dead as when today, with veneration and with a grandeur of pageantry that has never been equaled in the annals of the world, the nation dedicated the tomb that now holds the body of its hero, Ulysses S. Grant.

It was an occasion more of triumphant eulogy and national pride than of funeral rites. For in these twelve years since first the nation mourned for Grant the keeness of grief has worn away and in its place there lives in the hearts of men that hero worship which found such tumultuous vent today.

The greatest of our citizens, our soldiers, and our sailors, today stood side by side with men of fame from almost every nation of the earth and paid, without regard to race or creed, or party politics, the last honor of the living to the dead, while the greatest throng that ever filled the city of New York added its surging paean to the rear of beaming guns and the tramp of marching soldiers. And in that throng there was no North and no South for since the soldier-president had said "let us have peace" the gray had blended with the blue.

Before the presidential party left the city to take part in the dedication ceremonies the flag decked streets were black with people, who cheerfully vociferously as the great men drove by. When the tomb was reached, a strange sight met the eye.

All around the oval in the center of which stood the gray monument to Grant were what seemed to be, black hillsides. This sombre background was formed by the thousands of spectators who filled the wooden stands, built up from the ground on both sides of the tomb to the level of the steps that led to the massive doors. To the south where the loop around the oval met the Riverside drive, there were two solid lines of humanity. On all four sides of the monument the oval stands were packed to overflowing, while facing the crowds was the great mass of eager sight-seers who had not been officially provided for.

SERVICE OF DEDICATION.

The solemn service of dedication seemed to throw a strange hush over the living to the dead, while the greatest throng that ever filled the city of New York added its surging paean to the rear of beaming guns and the tramp of marching soldiers. And in that throng there was no North and no South for since the soldier-president had said "let us have peace" the gray had blended with the blue.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY.

White the land parade was waited for after the conclusion of the ceremonies the sky became laden and the wind increased until it almost howled around the trees. The waters of the Hudson reflected the ashen hue of the sky, and the great white ships that floated on its bosom stood out in almost ominous relief. The dusty road bed of the drive was whipped up until black coats became brown, and spectators forsook their sheltered seats for the protection of the tomb pillars. Then suddenly under the cloud of dust from the south between the two black lines of people which seemed to meet in the perspective, came the nodding plumes of the soldiers. On they marched, an endless line of white and red and blue and gray. First passing on the west side of the monument oval then returning on the north road under the monumental arch, they passed the
